

Editor's Comment:

From the review comments, I can tell that the reviewers have positive impression of the work. And from the authors' response, it seems they have addressed most of the concern from the reviewer.

There are some studies suggested by one of the reviewers, but these studies were not included and discussed in the current work. I will suggest a minor revision of the current version to provide more explanation about why these studies were not included. Would the species relativity probability have obvious effects on the results presented in this work? If not, please talk about why.
