

Editor's Comment:

I carefully revised the manuscript. The authors have answered to previous unanswered questions, some efforts have been done also to fulfill my requests, However, although improved the manuscript is still very weak in the English language, some phrases are misleading or are difficult to be comprised by the reader.

I suggest major revision of a mother tongue person or by a translation service, there are many for reasonable costs.

Author's Feedback:

Thank you for your consideration, in previous answers we tried to fulfill all of your precious requests

We correct the linguistic and grammatical errors in the manuscript by a translation institute service, and improved the English as you command.
