Compulsory REVISION comments	The paper contains the results of studies done by the authors on the radiation from well water and the results are compared with the safety levels prescribed by WHO. This is very important and useful especially for people living in the area where they have conducted the studies. I suggest that as far as subject is concerned it can be accepted for publication. But there are a lot of corrections required in the language, which should be corrected before publishing.	Thanks for your good work. We have done all the corrections.
