

Editor's Comment:

I have taken a closer look at the reviewers' recommendations and comments, and the manuscript itself.

Although the reviewers provided comprehensive suggestions/comments for revision, they were barely addressed.

The theme for the current manuscript constitutes a great endeavor toward addressing a major global challenge; and the data presented is informative.

However, the current version of the manuscript is characterized by poor usage of English language and too simplistic information. It is severely weakened by lack of clarity and flow, and poor prose and multiple grammatical errors. The present analytical interpretations, discussions, and conclusions are uninformative. The current version of the manuscript does not meet the high standard set for this journal.

The manuscript needs to be re-written, organized, and edited. In addition, the author needs to adequately address reviewer's comments.

Final Decision: Reject

Editor's Details:

Dr. Margaret Mwangi
Lead Scientist, Environment & Society, SESD, Pennsylvania, USA.