

Editor's Comment:

The study reported in the manuscript is of practical interest but still remains written in very poor English, as already mentioned by Reviewers. Reviewers had call for the text being edited by true English speaker, which, obviously and unfortunately, has not been possible for the authors.

As a surrogate, I propose, in an attached file, fully re-edited texts for both the Abstract and the Conclusion of the manuscript and I invite the authors to take account of this.

This is minimal additional efforts to be carried on before the manuscript could be acceptable for publication in AJRAVS.
