

Editor's Comment:

I have evaluated the revised manuscript. The author(s) tried her/his best, but the manuscript is not improved so much. The introduction (including literature review) part is elaborated still now. Methodology, conclusion, reference portions are still in poor condition. The topic selected was nice and provided a distinctive thinking of author(s). The article could enhance other researchers for doing more works on this topic in future. But, still now, the manuscript is not so improved for accept for publication. It needs major revision still now.
