PART 2:

FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
That was a good one. You are now on the right lane. But am sorry you need to do just a little more for the discussion to get to the publishable level. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. I realize that you used only 5 references at the discussion, which is not bad. But I mean you can still do better. 2. I also realized that you did not discuss (reference) the analgesic part (last paragraph of your discussion). Should discuss as you did for the other paragraphs 3. The beginning of the word "...Control..." should start with a small letter, thus "...control..." at the last sentence of the discussion. 4. Lastly, authors should realize that when their paper is finally published, it will be on the internet forever. And hence cannot change anything afterwards. They should therefore take their time to do a perfect discussion with some few extra references, either in support or in contrast to their results. So that after some couple of years, they will read their work from the internet and enjoy (interesting and fascinating discussion), not the vice versa.
