

Editor's Comment:

Final editorial decision on the paper titled The Impact of transportation Infrastructure on Economic growth: Empirical evidence from Saudi Arabia 1988-2017. I find it difficult to recommend the paper for publication for the following reasons:

1. It is poorly written in terms of the language of communication. The tenses are poorly articulated and written in futuristic form when the work is already completed. This is in addition to very obvious collections of poorly constructed sentences and expressions.
2. The paper is weak in methodology. The chosen VAR was not properly deployed and the results very definitely spurious, unreliable and invalid to say the least.
3. Drawn conclusions are counter-intuitive and anti-theoretical making them spurious.
