Optional/General comments	The idea of the paper is interesting and I would encourage the authors to continue this important research. I support the work and believe that it can be recommended for publication. The main remarks: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. The sample chosen is far too small to give conclusive results; 2. The results presentation are ok, but the supporting discussion enough lacks bibliographic support; 3. You must the literature review should be further developed to be tailored to the chosen model (regression model) and the conclusions should be more and consistent 4. Low level of originality of the discussed issue and the chosen method. An old model applied on this case study is not considered a new and original contribution.
