

EDITORIAL COMMENTS:

After going through the manuscript and the reviewers' comments I think one of the most important point raised in the manuscript is the linguistic problem.

And I would suggest that the authors consult either on line or someone with good command over language and get manuscript corrected grammatically.

Methods should be rechecked specially those related to the physico chemical parameters of soil samples.

They must pay attention to the details in Tables 2 and 3 in manuscript and answer to the queries put forward by the reviewer.

Discussion in the manuscript needs to be to the point and the use of repetitive words being avoided.

AUTHOR'S FEEDBACK:

- All linguistic and grammatical problems have been corrected.
- Methods have been rechecked specially those related to the physico chemical parameters of soil samples.
- Use of repetitive words in the discussion have been checked and corrections effected.
- NOTE: Please any corrections concerning linguistic and grammatical errors should be highlighted in the manuscript for any further review process.
