

Editor's Comment:

The paper is interesting and the authors should be stimulated to improve it, but the following is important:

Methods: is not clear

Results: there are discordant data like the number of patients with heart failure NYHA class III-IV (Table 3). The authors established previously that only patients in class I-II were included in the study.

The reviewers clearly established their doubts about it. Since the study includes a treatment and recommendations, the paper must be very clear and sustainable.

My editorial decision: rejected.
