

Editor's Comment:

In my opinion, the performance of this study is rather weak to become a part of the Asian Journal of Economics, Business and Accounting. Literature review is poor, list of references is very short. The contribution of the author to the literature is not emphasized. Discussion section is required to explain the findings and discuss them in relation to the existing studies in the area. The text requires extensive language and style editing. My overall recommendation is to decline this manuscript, but encourage the author to revise it and resubmit in the future.

Editor's Details:

Dr. Vasilii Erokhin
School of Economics and Management, Harbin Engineering University, China