

Editor's Comment:

The manuscript is still defective & is not acceptable in current form

*Language & grammatical errors. Also needs statistical consultation

*Change the word tertiary into university in title & throughout the text to be clear for international readers

*Abstract: non-informative with long background

*Simple random sample by lottery is non-logic & not practical with this large target population & sample size. Tables of random number & computer generated programs are available & better to use?

-Simple random sample requires a list of the target population. Nothing was mentioned about number of total target population & their distribution in different faculties & educational years.

*Needs more elaboration on data analysis (significance test used)

*Table 1: merge the last 3 categories of the age. Delete the "No" in last 3 variables of the table

*Table 4: According to its title the comparison should be between EC users & non-users (not sexual activity)

*Add study limitations e.g. non-exhaustive & non-validated study tool

Decision: Major revision
