I think that work in the current state should not be published.

these are just only a few mistakes in the whole work:

1. description of the method is chaotic and not clear
 2. in title subject of research was arenga palm liquid in abstract it is arenga palm oil also in introduction so what type of fertiliser was tested in experiment?
 3. how was used this fertilizer is not properly described
 4. what ingredients were mixed before utilisation verse 17-18 of material and methods chapter
 5. all abbreviations should be explained in advance see Table 1 what is the meaning of POC
 6. work is poor stylistically which makes it difficult for her properly understanding
 7. in chapter Material and methods there are not any information about shrimp flour which also was used in described experiment see chapter results and discussion see third verse under table 1
- between the quoted literature is a master's thesis - where it is available?
