

Editor's Comment:

You can find in attached files:

- my editorial decision about the manuscript "Buffalo Husbandry for Sustainable Development of Small Farmers in India and other Developing Countries",
- the text with the indication of some corrections needed before to be definitively accepted for publication.

The manuscript has been improved, but is still subject to several corrections before being published.

- Text

Several minor corrections have been directly written (in red) on the text given in attached file.

- References.

In the text, a number must be attributed to each reference according to the instructions to the authors. First references have been corrected in the text given in attached file.

Check carefully (see reference style: <http://www.sciencedomain.org/journal/83/authors-instruction>).

- In the text, replace "name of author and others" with "name of author et al." (see the text)

Editorial decision: Manuscript accepted for publication in AJRAVS after corrections of the text.
