

Editor's Comment:

Following evaluation of all documents related to the manuscript.

The manuscript does not meet requirements of the Journal. It also does not meet standards of a good scientific article. It is written in messy way. Words in Portuguese are used (for example Equation 3). Introduction is vestigial. Only one reference (namely reference number 4) is written in English. The rest of references are written in Portuguese. Only titles of references are translated into English. This is not acceptable because this causes that references are not available to assessing by editors, reviewers or readers who do not know Portuguese. Additionally some references are only home web pages of some organizations or institutions.

- The authors did not correct the manuscript in accordance with suggestions and requirements of the reviewers. Only some parts of the manuscript are highlighted in yellow, but in majority no corrections were introduced to these places. If corrections were made, they are definitely not substantive and important, but the authors declare that all reviewers' comments were taken into account and the appropriate corrections were introduced to the text.
- Results presented in the manuscript concern only a small area in Brazil. Results will not be interesting for a wide international scientific community. They should be published in some local Brazilian journal.
