Compulsory REVISION comments	This study only considers possible publication in the short communication format. Some corrections / suggestions are directly related to the manuscript file.	Thank you for your feedback comments. The manuscript was being revised as a version short communication paper.
Minor REVISION comments
Optional/General comments	This study is fairly elementary, and publication in the form of an article may not be adequate, but how short communication is entirely possible. I also believe that there are flaws in the text of the manuscript, for example, at no time is the species of the bee informed (I believe it is produced by a bee of the species Apis mellifera). Another aspect is that there is not any kind of chemical characterization, even if simple as the phenolic content, for example, or even if possible of flavonoids. English requires an adjustment. Finally, I consider it appropriate only the publication if reformulated for short communication.	Apis mellifera is a bee. Propolis is produced by the honey bee (Apis mellifera)
