1) The paper is still not written in the format provided by the journal                  2) The introduction is still very long and hard to follow                  3) English still needs to be improved – it also makes the paper hard to follow.                  4) Total word count is still above 6000, which exceeds the maximum suggested at the author guidelines (3000 – 6000 words in total).                  5) The authors do not show any data on the antibiotics used.                  6) There should be a comparison between the characteristics of the patients that had different outcomes, even though this study is descriptive.	1. I tried to write with the format.                  2. Introduction was highly reduced.                  5.I showed antibiotics data.                  Still I am eager to receive such a like valuable comments.                  Thank you.
