Compulsory REVISION comments	The article concentrates on future prediction of student(s) depending on his/her previous results. The students who have good results and those who are lagging back, both types are identified though the usage of different algorithms and their current academic year's performance is tried to be identified well in advance. Literature review is up to the mark and data collection &amp; model formulation look adequate. The process being used for comparison and metrics used to measure accuracy, sensitivity etc. also are admirable. Results and conclusion are also good and the suggestion to use ID3 algorithm is fine.	Noted.
Minor REVISION comments	The paper would have been far better if it had suggested any measures to overcome the problems of a student.
Optional/General comments	NONE
