YCompulsory REVISION comments
Minor REVISION comments	Weight gain during holidays is common in students. Pre occupation with studies, and unpalatable food might restrict calorie intake while extracurricular activities burn part of calories consumed. The take home message to all students should be to watch their diet and weight and indulge in some physical activity to burn calories. Since these ' binge attacks ' during holidays are foreseen, student should be counselled before declaring holidays, about the possibilities of weight gain on going homes. No preventive strategy is feasible as the habits of a persons can not be controlled. These facts may help to give clarity to the article and as such may be incorporate in the manuscript. This is not mandatory if the author does not like the suggestion.	I do not correct this comment
