Compulsory REVISION comments	There are perhaps potentially useful data presented, but they are not focussed upon. For example, the IC50s in Table I indicate that Molecule C, with the lowest IC50, was the most potent anti-cancer agent of the 8 Molecules studied. But this finding was neither explained nor pursued. If possible, the manuscript should be re-written with a useful focus and conclusion in mind– if the actual data make that possible. The manuscript is interesting and may provide the basis of a good paper, provided that the data are analysed and presented more systematically.	The manuscript have been re-written as prescribed by the reviewer.
