Compulsory REVISION comments
Minor REVISION comments	The paper brings a general overview of current trend of wireless sensor networks, including the Internet and cellular telephone services. Firstly, I would like to thank that study. However, it has the following issues 1. it needs proofreading once more for a few grammatical mistakes. 2. References are old and need to be updated with some of the new references. 3. In section 7.0 EVOLUTION OF THE STANDARDS, the reference of IEEE seems to be wrong. 4. In section 9.0, the following statement needs to be explained: "There is a solution when AP prefer one signal on the other, if AP has selected A, then A sends RTS again to the AP and it Reaches B after that AP sends CTS for A to both A and B." It is a long sentence and not clears. Maybe miss some word? Also, in the section of Conclusion, the authors should include some future work to show the potential of continuation of the proposed research area and framework. The authors should check the whole manuscript for minor typos, grammar and syntax errors. The manuscript needs a minor revision before acceptance.
