PART 2:

FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
The study was considered anatomically very weak. There are still shortcomings. Scientific errors are seen (eg, the presence of veil hairs in the root). The anatomical parts of the leaves are not written. Sponge parenchyma and mesophilic layer were not mentioned. What was the purpose in this study? What has been involved in science with this study. The answers to these questions are unfortunately not in the study. I do not accept the publication of this paper as review. But, If it's going to be published again, I've done the revisions on the article. The authors can look at the corrections which I made
