Optional/General comments	I have reviewed the manuscript titled: " Morphology and bait preference of Black rat (Rattus rattus) in University community in Nigeria: Obafemi Awolowo University as case study." The author used locally made metal traps (cage traps) contains baits in various sampling locations (Awolowo, Fajuyi, Angola, Akintola, Mozambique and Moremi halls of residence) for a period of 3 months to catch the Black rat. The finding contains interesting information regarding the possible control of the population of black rat in the students' hostels. The experimental design and the methods used were appropriate; but I think that the manuscript needs some revisions.
