

Editor's Comment:

I have gone through the article as well as all the review reports and author's responses. I agree with the author that while writing non-systematic reviews, it is not necessary to adhere to standard guidelines. But, unfortunately it will not give us the evidence for decision making. An organized well explained article always leaves the great impact on the readers. So author should be receptive to suggestions given by the experienced reviewers and should make changes accordingly. If two of the reviewers are satisfied, the article may be accepted for publication.

Editor's Details:

Dr. Kanwal Preet Kaur Gill
Department of Community Medicine, Sri Guru Ram Das Institute of Medical Sciences & Research, India