

Editor's Comment:

I evaluated the paper entitled "Ehrlich ascites carcinoma bearing mice as model of human hepatocellular carcinoma", after reading the paper, I consider the following comments:

- The paper needs editing in all paper (e.g., the title, it should be a model instead of model)

- Abstract:

The aim is not clear it is to investigate or to compare? I think that it should be "This study aimed to investigate the effects of EAC and human hepatocellular carcinoma (HCC) on the liver in mice and human.

Methodology: Group two served as an interventional or experimental group that inoculated once intraperitoneal with EAC cells.

Group1 was collected from healthy male and group 2 patients infected with HCC. It is better to be "The control group was healthy males, while the experimental /interventional group was patients infected with HCC.

- Material and Methods:

This is an experimental study, it is very necessary to have a study hypothesis. Thus add hypothesis.

Determine the period of conducting the paper.

- Discussion

Add recommendations and limitations if there were any limitations.

Therefore, the authors are requested to do the mentioned modifications.

Editor's Details:

Dr. Malakeh Zuhdi Malak
Assistant Professor, Community Health Nursing, Al-Zaytoonah University of Jordan, Amman, Jordan