The 2019/EJMP/49922 deals with the chemical characterization of seeds and kernels

The research is interesting and comprehends a lot of samples. The reviewer commented positively the MS and the Authors effectively responded to their criticism. However, I think that the MS can be accepted for publication on EJMP only after these important modifications:

- Please, change the title with a more informative one (especially about the samples analyzed, so that a reader shouldn't read the abstract to get the origin of the seeds analyzed).

Add SD (and possibly statistical analysis) to the paper (particularly to Figures 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6).
