

Editor's Comment:

I have just gone over the revised manuscript and the reviewers' comments.

Although I agree with both reviewers who suggested acceptance with minor revisions which were apparently incorporated in the revision of the final version by the authors, I found the references cited surprisingly sparse and outdated. There were only 21 references cited and the latest one was dated 2012,

Furthermore, the authors relied almost entirely on reference books, handbooks, and reports that have not been reviewed by external experts. There were only four original articles published mainly in local journals and there was none from any prestigious in international journals.

I would like to recommend its acceptance for publication provided that the authors could add more updated references especially in the Discussion Section to show that they are aware of the current research in this particular field.
