Compulsory REVISION comments	In this study the researcher pinpoints the interface between two protagonists in fictional writings of A Walk in The Night and Mine Boy in South African literature. The researcher put much concentration on central characters Xuma and Michal Adonis in comparative perspective. For this study, the researcher used solely literary qualitative analysis based on characterization and themes as two interwoven literary generic elements which cannot be studied in isolation. With this study the researcher found that these two writings convey a good message that apartheid and any kind of discrimination, violence and injustice as rooted in the dim colonial period should be eradicated not only in Africa but also in the other parts of the globe. These literatures mainly focused on fighting for human rights and the regardless thinking of color of man. This is a good study focused on the violation of human rights in South Africa. No need to revise the paper.
