Compulsory REVISION comments	The subject of the paper clearly falls within the scope of this Journal. The paper is very interesting, well written and well organized, and represents some advancement over the actual state-of-the-art. The ways and means are well described as well as the obtained results which are thoroughly discussed and conclusions are well drawn. The paper is also supported by some literature review. However, in order to make for a stronger paper, I suggest that the authors should cite and discuss the following relevant paper, which could be used as benchmark regarding the proposed approach: – Puna et al., "Biodiesel production from waste frying oils over lime catalysts", Reaction Kinetics, Mechanisms and Catalysis, 109(2), 405/413 (2013) DOI: 10.1007/s11144-013-0557-2 I do recommend the publication of this paper, subjected to these changes.
