

Editor's Comment:

Although authors have revised the manuscript based on reviewers comments, there are still some errors that should be corrected before publication.

1. There are numerous typos, punctuation and grammatical errors.
2. Abstract and Introduction are very much similar.
3. There should be some representative figures of plants, seeds as well as mechanisms related to anti-diarrheal effect of plant or its bioactive components.
4. Authors also can provide main activity with references in tabular form.

Thus, acceptance this manuscript may recommended for publication after revision.
