

Editor's Comment:

- First of all, exactly, what data were used (not “will be collected”? A simple data series was sufficient to understand.
- The studies regarding the statistical formulas and technicalities should be more explained.
- Indeed, which is soft used, if there are recommendations regarding the use of the formulas and statistical tools by those working in the field?
- The name of tools used should be written with capital letter at the beginning of the name: Sortino, Treynor,....
- It's too technically written. The people working in the field, also the analysts should economically understand the phenomena, of course based on programmes (soft) used.

Editor's Details:

Dr. Alexandru Trifu
Professor, Faculty of Economics, “Petre Andrei” University of Iasi, Romania