

Editor's Comment:

I have read the reviewer comments, the author responses and taken a look at the paper. I also read what the one Editor wrote about the word "Meteorological".

This paper has three reviewers who are positive and one who is negative. In my view, if there are four reviewers, the recommendation does not need to be unanimous in order to recommend for publication.

This paper can go to publication. However, I would recommend to the authors to work with an English speaker to polish the grammar. The grammar is, for the most part correct, but could use improvement. This suggestion is for the author's benefit.
