

Editor's comment:

First of all, and a very obvious one, the references are not formatted correctly and there are numerous grammatical mistakes. Secondly, the authors make statements about nutritional intake without referring to any adequate references. The carbohydrate content has been introduced but the authors have no idea if these values contribute to a sugar intake (their objects are fruit).

Author's feedback:

The reference has been formatted.

The editor should be specific, for example the particular statement about nutritional intake without referring to any adequate reference.

In terms of carbohydrate content, actually author have no idea of what value CHO content of these fruits should contribute to sugar intake. I feel that should be another study to find out the sugar content of the fruits.
