Compulsory REVISION comments	The article is not well written. The use of the personal pronoun “we” and “us” should be avoided at all cost. It contains many grammatical errors and misspellings. It should be re-written by a person with a complete knowledge in the proper use of the technical English language. For instance, the Abstract should read as follows: Abstract: Lack of attention to efficiency in the space and its qualitative elements has led to side effects such as lack of environmental visual qualities, disorder and also of space efficiencies. These matters affect the safety and security of urban spaces. In order to maintain the efficiency of urban spaces, it should be logical to have compatibility among the qualitative elements and the social and cultural specifications of the citizens from the physical and psychological aspects. At other side, inefficiency of urban furniture emptied them from their aesthetic values and so-called modern equipment including more welfare facilities for the citizens according to their ontological philosophy and create favorite urban spaces. However, they have been converted into inefficient and polluting elements in the urban spaces. But with the proposed urban furniture designing, efficient urban spaces and identity presentation elements can be created.	Authors very much appreciate the comments of the reviewers. We have done all the correction as per the comments of the reviewers.
