PART 1: Review Comments

	Reviewer's comment	Author's comment (if agreed with reviewer, correct the manuscript and highlight that part in the manuscript. It is mandatory that authors should write his/her feedback here)
Compulsory REVISION comments	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The literatures used consulted in this study are out dated. This is 2019, but the most recent literature cited herein is 2010. The author(s) has/have to update this study with more recent citation between 2015 and 2019.</li> <li>The VAR technique requires the Impulse response and Variance decomposition analysis. This is absent in the study.</li> <li>All tables should be presented in modern format as shown in Table 1.</li> </ol>	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>A total of 17 new references have been added in which 13 are between the years 2015-2019. Further, seven (7) out of 17 are from Indian context only which provide recent literature on Indian context.</li> <li>Since all the variables of the model are integrated of order one and they also cointegrated, we have used VECM technique (not VAR) to compute the long-run and the short-run estimates of coefficients. The Granger causality method is based on the augmented VAR technique, which necessarily does not require the use of impulse response and variance decomposition analysis.</li> <li>All tables have been formatted in modern format as prescribed.</li> </ol>
Minor REVISION comments	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Check for grammatical corrections.</li> </ol>	Grammatical errors are minimized if any.
Optional/General comments	I recommend the authors consult with English expert for thorough proof reading. This would enhance the quality of the article. Good Job!	Authors appreciated the advice given by the respected reviewer and proof reading has been done by a doctorate in English Language.
