FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
The author has managed to include the majority of the suggestions given. I am happy about this. The article is now more logical and clearer than before. What now remain are minor spelling errors which can't warrant refusal to publish the article. However, he could have strengthened it more if he had included similar research findings from elsewhere to make the article findings applicable to other parts of the world.
