Optional/General comments	A commendable work with deep insight into the crux of the matter. However may concern is hinged on the derivations that culminated to equation 8 bearing in mind the fact that social science research via regression simply intends to establish the strength of relationship between two or more variables. Delving into further inquiry calls to question our measurement strategy. Notwithstanding our scientific shortcomings in terms of Event history analysis. Truncation in itself challenges our existence as social scientist no doubt. In any case, I must appreciate the author's attempt	Thank you for appreciating my work. Your comments are very helpful.
